DONATIONS FOR CLUB ARE TOLD

Mrs. Daniel Campbell Tells Tuesday Folks of Many Gifts

STAGE IS PLEDGED

What the Various Sections Are Doing Toward Furnishing

An eloquent talk which deeply touched the large audience of Tuesday afternoon club members gathered to hear it, was made by Mrs. Basil Clark at the session yesterday. Her theme was entitled "The Dawn of Tomorrow," and was an appeal to women to employ all their powers in a "war on war."

In other words to unite for peace.

The program opened with the customary community singing led by Hugo Kirchofer. It was followed by a business session at which the candidacy of Mrs. Charles H. Toll for the office of president of the district federation of women's clubs was endorsed.

Section meetings were announced by Mrs. W. E. Evans, general curator.

A report of how the new club house is to be furnished and of the contributions which the various club organizations have undertaken to make, was read by the president, Mrs. Daniel Campbell.

which revealed that the Malda's and Young Matrons' Section will supply flat silver for the club in quality similar to that used at the Ambassador, and will purchase it through a local merchant.

From the Patriotic, Local Relief and Calling Committees will come stocks of table linen and towels.

The literary section will give cups, plaques and plates, and the membership committee a teaset. The Drama Section is pledged to provide stage equipment to the value of $1000.

A punchbowl and glasses will be the contribution of the Hospitality Committee. Arts and Crafts Sections will give lamp standards and shades. From the Legislative, Parliamentary Law and Bible will come water glasses, sugar bowls and cream pitchers, pepper and salt shakers. The mailing committee is giving a folding table. The courtesy, philanthropy and civics committees are yet to be heard from. The gift of the Music Section has not been announced, nor have the intentions been made known of several small committees which will combine in their gifts.

Other offerings include a piece of furniture for the auditorium by John Hyde Braly; something in the way of a memorial for her mother, by Mrs. Frank Ayars; a $400 check from Mr. Simons, the brick manufacturer, which will be used for a piano; a president's chair, by Mr. and Mrs. M. C. MacLennan, as a memorial for their sister, the club's first president, Mrs. Cora Taylor; a chest of silver from Mr. Spohr, the druggist; a fine large Lorain gas stove by Coker & Taylor; a punch ladle, by Mrs. S. C. Leppelman; a jardiniere and $25, by Mrs. Philip Parker; two large framed tapestries, by Mrs. Charles Turk; a picture to replace one given by Mrs. Mary Frank and daughter, Mrs. James.

As hints to those contemplating gifts, the need for chairs in the club parlors was mentioned, and it was intimated that plants for the palm garden would be appreciated, also sugar sacks for tea towels. In concluding her report Mrs. Campbell paid a tribute to the hard work of the chairman of ways and means, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, who was absent from the meeting because of illness. She also declared that the club would not increase its indebtedness to furnish the clubhouse.

A food sale was conducted at the close of the program and announcement was made that the next one would be put on by the F. and G. members.

JOHNS HEADS HIS CABINET IN ELECTION

Wins by Narrow Margin Over George Jansen With 191 Ballots

GINGERY IS SEC'Y

Isabel Tousey Is Elected Sec'y. of Publications Over M. Widdows

The student body election at Glendale high on Tuesday yielded all the promised thrills when the count of votes was made, particularly in the contest for the presidency which was won by Stanley Johns, who had two votes more than his nearest competitor, George Jansen, or 191 ballots to his credit.

Ardin Gingery led for secretary of assemblies with a vote of 202 against 174 by Jane Fritch.

Isabel Tousey with a poll of 252 captured the office of secretary of publications from Maurice Widdows, who had 233 votes.

For the office of secretary of state, Charlotte Winsel captured 275 votes to 202 cast for Margaret Fife.

Elizabeth Higgins won as secretary of debating with 235 votes against 177 cast for Kathryn McNary.

The race for secretary of finance was very close, Annie Fuelscher polling 233 votes against 231 cast for Grace Miller.

Leslie Lavelle was an outstanding candidate for secretary of boys' athletics with a vote of 336 against 190 for his competitor, Howard Wimmer.

There was also close running in the secretaryship of girls' athletics, the office going to Orrell Hester, who had 169 votes against 162 for Marian Gray.

The fact that the vote for the presidency was so close with four candidates in the field, shows that there is an abundance of good material for executive offices in the school. Stanley Johns is credited with more than the ordinary modicum of brains and is one of the most popular students in Glendale high.

Ardin Gingery has a good voice and is said to be an excellent presiding officer.

Isabel Tousey's abilities have been demonstrated in the debating arena and on the staff of the Explosion, and she will certainly make good as editor-in-chief.

Charlotte Winsel has so fine a record in the commercial department that she is sure to prove an efficient secretary of state in recording the doings of the cabinet.

"Betty" Higgins, whose energy and popularity have never been questioned, is certain to do credit to her constituents.

Annie Fuelscher comes to the office of secretary of finance with the strong endorsement of the commercial department, where she has demonstrated ability as an accountant.

Leslie Lavelle, the successful candidate for secretary of boys' athletics has been a leader in athletics since his grammar school days and had a devoted constituency when he entered the school.

Orrell Hester, elected secretary for girls' athletics, is a hard worker. She is a letter girl and has the backing of the teams who have sustained the honor of the school.

Politics will continue to simmer until after the election of officers of the girls' league, Friday.

Gladys Peckham and Mildred Thompson are competing for the presidency.

Beatrice Sutton, Frances Wyman and Alice Finn are the candidates for the vice-presidency.

Orrell Hester, who has just been elected to office in the student body, has withdrawn as candidate for the secretaryship of the league which automatically will put in office her league competitor, Gwendolyn Warner.

Four excellent candidates are competing for the treasurership, Elaine Buttrud, a senior; Evelyn Walker of the B-12 class; Emma Laura Cooper, a popular junior, and Elizabeth Hofer, who is a well-backed freshman candidate.

MRS. HAYES IS HONOREE OF THE RELIEF CORPS

Secretary of Organization Receives Congratulations on Birthday

Mrs. Juliana Hayes, secretary of the Women's Relief Corps of N. P. Banks post, was the honoree Tuesday afternoon at a beautiful celebration of her 80th birthday, which took place at G. A. R. hall and which was attended by about 100 friends who came to congratulate her on her length of days.

The guest list included about 35 former residents of Marseilles, Ill., the old time home of Mrs. Hayes, who are living in Southern California. Other guests for the most part were members of the post and corps with whom Mrs. Hayes has been actively associated ever since she came to Glendale about 12 years ago.

She was born in South Hero, Vermont, and from there moved with her parents to Wisconsin, where she lived until her father passed away, going then with her mother to Oberlin, Ohio, where she was graduated from Oberlin college and where she met Mr. Hayes. They were married at the beginning of the war in April, 1861, and Mr. Hayes volunteered and served the whole four years of the conflict.

At its close they went to Marseilles, Ill., where they enjoyed 45 happy years of wedlock. Mr. Hayes' death occurring thirteen years ago. Mrs. Hayes then came to California, where she has since been a most welcome guest in the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. R. Alexander of 1214 South Maryland avenue.

The informal program provided for the entertainment of guests included an original song by Mrs. Bouwne of Los Angeles, composed in memory of the mother of the singer.

Alex MacDougal of Glendale gave several bagpipe selections. Mrs. Whitman, a former resident of Marseilles contributed a reading.

Miss Barrett of Glendale, played a piano selection.

Mrs. Hayes was the recipient of a handsome handbag from the post and corps, the presentation being made by Mrs. R. L. Milligan, past president of the corps. Mrs. Hayes also received numerous other birthday remembrances.

The congratulations of post and corps were voiced in a happy manner by Rev. C. R. Norton, chaplain of the post.

At the conclusion of the program light refreshments were served, including a handsome birthday cake embellished with a very beautiful floral decoration in lavender and green frosting, and carrying 30 lavender candles.

It was a great day in the life of the woman thus honored and will always be a beautiful memory to her and her friends.

WALTERS OF SPARR HEIGHTS PUSHES BONUS LINE DRIVE TO SUCCESSFUL COMPLETION

When $300 Deficit Is Shown He Subscribes $25, and Calls on Other Glendale Advancement Association Members to Follow Suit

WITH INGLEDUE, AMOUNT IS GUARANTEED

A Dozen Diners at the Luncheon of Association Join in Clearing up the Amount Necessary to Land the Railroad and Fund Is Completed

Mr. M. Walters of the Francis-Barnum-Walters company, which is marketing Sparr Heights, was a guest at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Advancement association on Tuesday, and was instrumental in finally closing the drive for the $25,000 bonus for the proposed extension of the Glendale-Montrose railroad to connect with the yellow car line.

The next most important business transacted by the organization was a vote to enlarge the Glendale avenue paving committee and instruct it to begin the circulation of petitions for the paving of that thoroughfare the first of next week.

The final action before adjourning was an agreement on the part of members to be responsible for a plate at the $25 dinner to be given by the Community Service association and to name Dr. Stuart to eat the dinner, President Ingledue and Secretary Nelson having already subscribed for tickets.

Messrs. Ingledue and Nelson had stated that the railroad committee was unable to collect one $1000 subscription and had therefore been compelled to go out and seek other subscriptions to replace it; that they lacked only about $300 which they hoped to secure that afternoon. Mr. Walters proposed instead of an extension of the canvass for so small a sum that it be made up by the members present, himself pledging $25 towards it.

Others who responded in like amounts were Messrs. Finley, Nelson, Ingledue, Stanley, Mercer, Caldwell, Brown, Dr. Russell and a number of others. Mr. Walters also received numerous other birthday remembrances.

The congratulations of post and corps were voiced in a happy manner by Rev. C. R. Norton, chaplain of the post.

At the conclusion of the program light refreshments were served, including a handsome birthday cake embellished with a very beautiful floral decoration in lavender and green frosting, and carrying 30 lavender candles.

It was a great day in the life of the woman thus honored and will always be a beautiful memory to her and her friends.

The action relative to the Glendale avenue paving committee followed the report of Dr. Stuart on a special conference held Tuesday morning by his committee with David Hibben, president of the board of education, Mayor Spencer Robinson, Harry White, Mr. Eaton of the Forest Lawn company at which everything was "ironed out" with regard to the widening of Forest avenue, which is to be made 48 feet wide; that the board of education will give land for the rounding off of two corners, but not the 12-feet across the south side of the Cerritos campus. Instead the land for widening is to be taken from the parkway and sidewalk on each side. Land for the rounding off of corners is to be given by Postmaster Jackson, by the Pacific Electric and by the Gateway Market, so that the entire improvement can be made at once and thus cut out all interference with traffic. Mr. Eaton assured the conference that his company would do its share.

Dr. Stuart was instructed to report to the Advancement association the agreement entered into by the parties to the conference and to suggest that the association proceed with its endeavor to circulate petitions for the paving of Glendale avenue. Dr. Stuart suggested the paving committee be enlarged and that City Manager Reeves be given a vote of thanks for his co-operation with the association. This motion was seconded and carried.

A motion that the committee be enlarged and instructed to immediately begin the circulation of petitions on Glendale avenue having carried, President Ingledue named for the reorganized committee Dr. Stuart as chairman, Messrs. Todd, Chandler, Finley, Mercer and Sibley.

Dr. Stuart was the recipient of a vote of thanks for his services in connection with the Forest avenue widening project, and Mr. Walters was similarly honored for helping to close the railroad bonus project.

At the suggestion of Dr. Russell that the association membership subscribe for a $25 plate at the banquet given by the score of 17 to 8 when they played the team at Alhambra Tuesday.

The hotel committee reported continued work in the securing of subscriptions which now lack about $5000.

SHORT CUT TO CLEAR SCHOOL BOND ISSUE

Supt. White Advised to Secure Petitions From Contested Districts

The chief discussion at the meeting of the Board of Education Tuesday night concerned the effect upon the Glendale city school district of the uncertain status of the district recently annexed along the river between San Fernando road and Griffith Park which is now before the Superior Court for adjudication; also territory in Casa Verdugo outside the corporate limits of Glendale, but which has always been recognized as a part of the city school district.

Superintendent White reported his conference with county school officials with reference to these matters and the advice of County Counsel to secure petitions signed by the heads of families in the territory to insure its inclusion in the Glendale district. He also reported the action of the Board of Supervisors in instructing the County Surveyor to prepare for Mr. White a map showing the boundaries of the Glendale City School District.

Mr. White was then instructed by the board to take the necessary steps in the procedure advised by the County Council to establish the legal boundaries of the district.

Four new teachers were elected for the coming semester, viz., Mrs. Lucy M. Park, Mrs. Margaret M. Struble, Mrs. Sara D. Van Hise, all of Glendale, and Miss Pauline Wigginton of Los Angeles.

The board acceded to a request from Miss Mitchell, principal of Columbus Avenue school that a thrift machine be installed there by the Pacific Southwest Trust & Savings Bank. In this connection it was reported to the board that at the Wilson Avenue and Broadway schools where these machines are in operation, $364.34 have been deposited by children in the past three weeks.

The board established a policy with regard to the attendance in city schools by pupils living outside the district by voting to deny all such applications on the ground that city schools are too crowded to receive them.

A request by Mr. Bell who appeared before the board to ask for the use of Magnolia School grounds for Sunday afternoon ball games, was denied.

Bids were opened for gas radiators in the Broadway and Glendale avenue bungalows now being erected, the award going to the Hamill Radiator company on a bid of $148.50 per bungalow for Cabco radiator.

Bids were also considered for radiators in the west wing of the Central Avenue School to take the place of the furnace that is to be removed. The award was made to the Potter Radiator company on a bid of $440 for the four class rooms to be served.

As that proposition has been successfully completed the proceedings for the paving of Glendale avenue will go forward as rapidly as possible. It is understood that the work of paving the roadways on either side of the track will be done at the same time as the paving of the right-of-way of the electric company.

Listen for the Press Boy's Whistle With the Evening Paper

As the ear-piercing fife and the rattling drum mark the time for marching hosts, so from now on the sharp shrill sound of a whistle will announce to patrons of the Glendale Daily Press and Los Angeles Express that these papers have just been delivered on your premises.

Patrons are urged to respond immediately to the whistle summons by going out and picking up the papers. It will be appreciated if subscribers report to us—Phone Glendale 97—any unsatisfactory or improper deliveries on the part of carriers.

Each carrier has one of the whistles and his instructions are to sound it whenever he delivers a paper. Listen for the sound which will soon become familiar to you, and many complaints of missing papers will be prevented.

This new plan is being operated today.

In this cosmopolitan Southern California of ours, we have often thought that perhaps an old friend
may live just around the corner,
or in the next block, but the change in name, address, and sometimes in appearance prevents our finding that we were friends ten, thirty, or fifty years ago. A man who has changed his business or employment, and, with the passing years,
his face has changed some, too, might meet a boyhood friend on the street, and neither would recognize the other. A lady's matron name often obscures her from those with whom she was associated many years before her marriage, or a second marriage may have taken place.

The purpose in creating this column is to help these people to find each other. Compliance with a few simple requirements will make it easy to assist.

12TH UNIT NOW UNDER SALE AT FAIRVIEW

Hamlin & Hepburn, 203 West
Broadway, report that their 12th unit, situated between Glenwood and Kenneth roads, is selling rapidly, about one-half of the lots being already sold.

There is still opportunity to secure one of these beautiful home-sites in the northwest section on which a temporary home can be erected. Many improvements are constantly going on in Fairview.
Recently electric light lines have been run between Elm and Spauld streets, and Allen and Linden avenues, south of Glenwood road;
gas mains have been laid on Linden avenue north of Glenwood road and are about to be laid in Irving avenue, north of Glenwood. Many good homes are being built, some by builders and some by individuals for their own homes. The Jennings grocery has recently been opened on Fourth street close to Allen avenue and the Woodard grocery on Fourth street, close to Alameda.

The Pacific Electric railroad has made a reduction in fares to Alameda ave., effective January 22, giving a monthly rate to that point of $6.91 for week-day service to Los Angeles.

The 12th unit is the last unit on which the wonderfully easy terms which have always been effective in Fairview, will apply, and also the last unit in this subdivision on which temporary homes can be erected.

GULICK DISCUSSES L. A. MOTOR BUS DEVELOPMENT

BY C. D. GULICK

"The expected has happened. The old Biblical saying, 'The prophet is without honor in his own country,' apparently was a well planned phrase. The fact that real men and some of the foremost men of the nation are backing the motor bus, not only morally but with their dollars, proves that they perceive they have found out that the motor bus is the only successful means of transportation. McAdoo has been a big bondholder in railroads and if he has taken his money out of railroads and is ready to put it into motor busses it is "proof of the pudding," else why should they put up immense sums of money to install motor busses in Los Angeles? Men of this type do not put even a thin, slim dime into business without the fullest investigation and knowing full well
the profits thereof.

"I am not discouraged but quite the reverse as this is the best thing that has ever happened. I have been prophesying this for some time, although people have been skeptical.

"I am very pleased, in fact, nothing could have happened which could have pleased me more. It certainly is evidence that there must be good profits in this business. Therefore we are offering to give the citizens of Glendale motor bus service between here and Los Angeles and break the Pacific Electric's rates, besides allowing residents to participate in the net profits."

CULLING DEMONSTRATIONS

Poultry keepers manifest a never-failing interest in culling demonstrations, states B. H. Cro-cheron, director of Agricultural Extension, University of California.
During 1922 the poultry specialists conducted 182 demonstrations, attended by 5,963 people. The farm advisors conducted 42 additional demonstrations attended by 690 people. Follow-up cards turned in at these meetings show that 20 per cent attending previous demonstrations culled 272,568 fowls with excellent results.

A further study of the follow-up cards indicates that 1,077,437 fowls were to be culled following the demonstrations of 1922. In addition to the demonstrations several culling projects are under way where accurate production records of culled and selected hens are kept over a period of several months to a year.

During the past 10 years it is estimated that the average production of the state has increased from 80 eggs per hen to 120 eggs per hen, or an average increase of 50 per cent. Much of this increase is undoubtedly due to the growing practice of culling flocks.

GLENDALE SENTIMENT ON ANNEXATION SHOWN BY PRESS READERS TODAY

Sewer Inactivity Still the Main Irritant of Dissension to the Few Who Would Rush Into the Arms of Los Angeles

REGISTER TO VOTE AGAINST ANNEXATION REGISTRARS:

Mrs. Grace E. Holman533 West California
Mrs. M. E. Myton612 East Broadway
L. W. Ball363 West Elk
Mrs. Harry Greenwalt408 Oak
Mrs. F. M. Ryan332 West Acacia
F. S. MacDougall453 West Colorado
W. Q. WiddowsGlendale Daily Press

Canvass of the sentiment among the readers of the Glendale Daily Press upon annexation recommences
this week. It will continue until the annexationists withdraw their petitions and declare themselves convinced.

The annexationists, however, may keep their petitions out and working indefinitely. So those who are opposed to annexation should be on guard, registering on the books of the county so that they can vote, should the measure ever come to an election.

For this reason, the Glendale Daily Press reiterates its appeal that all should register. It will not only permit those who are for or against annexation to cast a vote, but it will also compel the annexationists to continually add to their petition the number of names to maintain the right proportion, 25 per cent of the total registered at the time the election petition is presented.

The list of registrars is given below. A change of address necessitates a fresh registration.

Richard C. Holins of 1026 San Rafael says: "I am unalterably opposed to Glendale annexing to Los Angeles. I own my home on San Rafael, where I have a little ranch, 100x172 feet, and I am satisfied. I see no reason why we should help pay Los Angeles' heavy interest tax in addition to our own taxes."

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. McCurdy, 113 South Cedar street: "If annexation to Los Angeles would help Glendale to solve the sewage disposal problem, we think it might be a good thing. Otherwise, we prefer Glendale to remain an independent city."

Mr. and Mrs. E. Rumble, 111 North Central avenue:
"We do not approve of Glendale annexing to Los Angeles. We believe that Glendale is large enough to settle its own problems independent of Los Angeles and prefer to have it remain a separate city."

"HUNGRY HEARTS" AT GLENDALE TODAY

Montague Glass, creator of "Potash and Perlmutter," who put the finishing touches on the titles of T. D.

to be a domestic story of exceptional appeal to young married couples as well as to the more seasoned ones. Warner Baxter heads a capable supporting cast.

And don't forget tomorrow night at the T. D. & L. Theatre when the big preview will take place.
This special production, eight wonderful reels, directed by Sidney Franklin, the man who made "East is West," has an all-star cast of ten favorite screen players and is a truly big attraction in every sense of the word. If Ralph Allan was permitted to unfold the story (a famous modern book) and the stars who will appear the theatre would not be large enough for the crowds, but the unwritten law of film ethics forbids his announcing the film's title, or the players who appear in it. Take it that it is a "big" one, we have Ralph Allan's word for it—that's enough!

AMERICAN TROOPS WHO ARE TO LEAVE THE RHINE

SEELIG COMPANY HOLDS ANNUAL BANQUET

Last night some 400 enthusiastic employees and about 50 interested guests gathered at the Elite cafe on Flower street, Los Angeles, for a banquet. Mr. Sam Seelig, president of the Sam Seelig company, operating 121 stores now, reviewed the business year just closed. All the local managers and salesmen at the Glendale store attended.

There was some lively music and good speaking, but the most interesting part of the festivities, from the viewpoint of the employees, was the distribution of the final bonus checks for 1922. The Seelig bonus is distributed during the yearly period, and the bonus for 1922 equalled 20 percent of the net profits of the company for the year. The bonus is an evidence of the appreciation by the management for efficient service. The sum varied with the individuals but everyone who had a share in the success of the company last year, was rewarded for his part.

Mr. Seelig gave due credit to the energetic efforts of the store workers and ascribed much of the success of the company to the courteous, helpful manner in which they treated customers. He also spoke of the new warehouse, the first unit to cost $300,000, which will be finished in August. Then in 1923, 75 new stores will be opened, making a total number in the chain of about 200. The Seelig company will then serve upwards of half a million customers each week.

Mr. H. M. Robinson, president of the First National bank, extended pleasant greetings to the Seelig organization, and spoke of the pleasure he derived in working with their management.

Mr. Edward Dale, vice-president of the Seelig company, also had a few words of commendation for the boys. Mr. Albert I. Stewart, who has charge of the real estate and organization development of the Seelig company, acted as toastmaster.

A number of prominent business men connected with Southern California institutions were present to witness the celebration and wish the Seelig organization continued success.

places will serve lunches to the planters participating in the inter-

RECORD SHIPMENT OF LETTUCE IS EASTBOUND

Exceeding estimates that were made at the opening of the season, record shipments of lettuce now are being sent to eastern markets from Imperial Valley cities, J. T.
Saunders, general freight agent of the Southern Pacific company, stated today following his return from a trip through the valley.

"Special vegetable trains are being operated by the Southern Pacific in order to efficiently distribute the Imperial winter crops
among the markets of eastern cities," Mr. Saunders said.
"Reports from New York, Chicago and other cities in the East show that Imperial valley's winter iceberg lettuce is becoming famous throughout the country. A constantly increasing demand is anticipated."

Revised estimates prepared this week placed the total Imperial lettuce acreage at approximately 15, 300 acres, from which shipments to various markets are expected to total about 7,650 cars. Earlier estimates had placed the shipments for the season at about 6,624.

Based on the revised estimates of the crop, lettuce shipments this winter will exceed those of last year by about 58 per cent. The establishment of freight rates as low as consistent with the service given, was declared to be responsible to a large extent for the big increase in this transcontinental business.

Shipments of peas also are expected to establish a new record this winter, as from 2,000 to 2,500 acres have been planted and it is expected that about 175 cars will be shipped. Last year only 48 cars of peas were marketed.

Heavy shipments of spinach are being made from both the Imperial and Coachella valleys.

400 ATTEND THE MADRIGAL CLUB CONCERT

Program Shows Careful Training and Artistic Taste

A most successful concert marked the opening of the fourth season of the Glendale Madrigal Club, which was held Tuesday night in the high school auditorium, and attended by 400 subscription members of the club. The soloists for the evening's concert included: Henry Cantor, tenor; Mrs. Albert M. Draper, contralto; Mrs. John A. Wright, pianist; Mrs. Helen A. Graham, soprano; Mrs. Wm. MacMullin, contralto. The excellent rendition of the various ensemble numbers was the result of the splendid training the members have been receiving under the direction of Mrs. Charles A. Parker, director.

The program opened with "Whirl and Twirl," spinning song from "The Flying Dutchman" (Wagner), which was followed by "I Bring You Heartsease" (Goss). The latter number was repeated as an encore. Henry Cantor of Glendale, who is a member of the De Lara Grand Opera company, presented the next group, including "Your Eyes Have Told Me" (O'Hara), "Elegie" (Massenet) and "If You Would Love Me" (MacDermid). Mr. Cantor was very well received and was in excellent voice last night. As an encore he gave "Sylvia." A very pleasing number was "The Dawn is Breaking" (Parlow), as given by Mrs. Helen MacMullin and the Madrigal Club, it being repeated as an encore.

Mrs. A. M. Draper was the next soloist, presenting a group of two numbers, "Homage" (Del Negro) and "Love is the Wind" (MacFadyen). A very interesting melody was her encore number, "It is Not Raining Rain to Me." Ensemble numbers by the Madrigal Club concluded the first half of the program. "The Snow Storm" (Rogers) and the ever-popular "By the Waters of Minnetonka" (Laurance).

The second act of the program opened with a very excellent piano number by Mrs. John A. Wright, "Rondo Capriccioso" (Mendelssohn). Mrs. Helen Graham Cole and the Madrigal Club presented the next number "The Dawn of Love," from "The Firefly" (Rudolf Friml), and repeated it as an encore. Henry Cantor gave a very pleasing interpretation of "Celeste Aida" (Verdi), and responded with an encore number. A different type of song were the next two given by the Madrigal Club, "Serenade" (Moskowsky) and "My Little Bangle" (Diehmolt).

One of the outstanding features of the program was the singing of "Capri" (Bassett) by Henry Cantor and the members of the Madrigal Club. The voices blended perfectly and the rendition was most effective. The program closed with "Invocation to Life" (Spross) by the Madrigal Club. The second concert of the season will be given by the club some time in May and they are already planning a number of special features. Mrs. John A. Wright was accompanist for last night's program.

The personnel of the Madrigal club is as follows: First soprano, Mrs. G. D. Roach, vice-president; Mrs. Paul Hoffman, treasurer; Mrs. John Ray, Mrs. E. B. Moore, Mrs. H. N. MacMullin, Mrs. Virginia Freeman, Mrs. Helen G. Cole, Mrs. C. L. Tuttle, Mrs. P. B. Kugler, Mrs. L. Ray Bentley, Mrs. A. R. Chapell, Mrs. C. L. Peckham and Mrs. C. L. Viereck, librarian; Second Soprano—Mrs. H. V. Henry, secretary; Mrs. R. A. Puffer, Mrs. L. E. Richardson, Mrs. F. A. Nicolaus, Mrs. C. M. Taylor, Mrs. John Baum and Mrs. W. A. Kulp; altos, Mrs. John Cotton, president; Mrs. Vm. Kattelman, Mrs. Hartley Shaw, Mrs. E. Starkey, Mrs. Charles H. Bird, Mrs. R. Y. Young, Mrs. C. I. Sherwood, Mrs. A. M. Draper, Mrs. Helen MacMullin, Mrs. Charles H. Meadows, Mrs. H. L. Bullinger, Mrs. Russell H. Hyatt and Mrs. Harry Greenwalt.

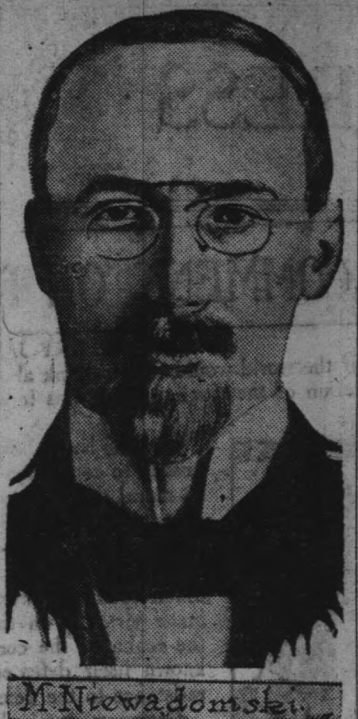

IOWANS ARE CALLED TO REUNION ON FEBRUARY 22

Hundreds of letters and calls are coming in even this early asking about the mammoth annual picnic reunion for 1923. It is too early to give all the details but it will be held in Lincoln park, Los Angeles, all day Thursday, February 22, or if rainy that date then Saturday, March 3. Every Hawkeye, resident or visitor, is always welcome. Three great Iowans have been invited to speak to us that day. Hon. Herbert Hoover, of the president's cabinet; U. S. Senator Smoot Brookhart and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. We confidently hope to have one or more of these leaders. Arrange to be on hand and pass the word to every Hawkeye. Write, phone (1026) or call on Secretary C. H. Parsons, Col. A. B. Shaw, president of the Iowa Association of Southern California, will preside and is in charge.

AMERICAN FLAG COMES DOWN AT COBLENZ

General Allen Catches It in His Arms As It Descends

(Copyright, 1923, by United Press) COBLENZ, Germany, Jan. 24.—"Oh say, can you see—?" The opening strains of the National Anthem from the smartest of French military bands blared out through the packed square at Ehrenbreitstein fortress, Coblenz, promptly at noon.

The Stars and Stripes on the tall flagpole fluttered an instant as two American machine gunners, honor men who had come through Chateau Thierry, pulled gently on the ropes.

A French and American military band was rigid at attention as the flag came down. Crowds of Germans and French, many with wet faces, pushed forward to witness the ceremony.

The huge flag sank slowly to the foot of the pole, where General Allen, commanding the last remnant of the American army of occupation, caught it in his arms and held it.

The anthem came to an end with a crash of cymbals and a great clare of brass.

Our flag was no longer there. The ceremony signified the formal departure of the last of America's "two millions" from the Rhine.

One thousand American doughboys made up the last detachment that had entrained from Coblenz this afternoon. The city took a holiday to pay them honor and see them off. A little group of sixty remain behind to clean up.

Two carloads of the train that drew the last Americans to Belgium for embarkation to the United States were made up of newly wedded doughboys and their German wives. Many of them had been married in the Rhineland; there were tearful partings between brides and their relatives as the train pulled out.

A telegram was received from General De Goutte, commanding the French army of occupation in the Ruhr.

Most cordial salutations to our American comrades. Best wishes for a happy future. We will keep faithfully the souvenir of loyal cooperation.

The last act of the American army of occupation at Coblenz was to return the compliment of the French who honored the Stars and Stripes.

The crack band of Third army's Rhine forts smashed into a stirring Marseillaise.

Two blue clad poilus marched to the flagpole with a huge French tricolor.

Slowly, just as the American flag had come down, they raised it to the top. Exchange of the military salutes. Final farewells. The American flag was hoisted to the top of the pole, which was to pull out at 4 o'clock.

The French will take over the bridgehead February 1.

No one was injured.

Slight damage was done and no one was injured when a truck driven by Hudson Boveney, of Burbank, ran into the trailer attached to the machine operated by Yatow Yamane, of Zelilah, the accident taking place on San Fernando road at 3 o'clock Monday.

Another accident occurred at the corner of Broadway and Orange when the machine operated by Dr. W. T. Hurt, 525 West Doran street, hit a car operated by a person whose name cannot be learned. The accident occurred at 7 o'clock last night and no one was hurt.

MRS. BASIL CLARK TELLS TUESDAY CLUB OF WORK

Describes Her Association With Herbert Hoover in Belgium Relief

The speaker at the Tuesday Afternoon club meeting yesterday, Mrs. Basil Clark, began her talk by telling of some of her experiences in Brussels, where she was when war was declared, her two boys being associated with Herbert Hoover in his relief work. She was called upon to act as the American representative and receive the thanks of the Belgians when the toys from the Santa Claus ship sent from America were distributed. Brand Whitlock, the diplomatic representative to the Germans in control. Children to the number of 2500 waved flags in the American colors, but with the Stars and Stripes disposed as they thought they should be not as they are in the real flag, and shouted "Vive L'America." That was on the 22nd day of February, which it was announced they would always observe as a Thanksgiving holiday in honor of America. She considered it a beautiful coincidence that Washington's birthday should be thus celebrated by a grateful foreign nation.

She described her discouragement in the face of awful war conditions, adding: "The first ray of hope came to me in a church in England when I heard the challenge of a great divine that if we would expend the same energy we displayed in equipping the army in bringing war to an end, we could have permanent peace. And then, when I saw Nancy Astor, an American woman, occupying a seat in parliament, it came to me that it was the hand that rocked the cradle that had the vote that would solve the problem."

She spoke of the wonderful work of Elizabeth, queen of Belgium, a German princess, who gave her heart against her own kin that she might be truly loyal to Belgium, and referred to Edith Cavell as an example of the heights to which women can rise on occasion. She paid a tribute to Susan B. Anthony, who foresaw there would come a time when women would come forward to help men, declaring that now men want this help. Said she: "This vote plays a tremendous part in your life. You must look upon it as a privilege and be very careful about the men and women you send to Washington."

"In this peace movement you must convince each yourself. Be sure you are going to play the game, as they say in England, and regardless of personal advantage or safety, do the right thing. How will you know what is the right thing? Put yourself in the other person's place and you will do the right thing. You will bring peace to the world. You cannot sit here and comfort. Think you are going to escape if there is a world war. It seems to me an opportune time to let people know we have a vision of what God intends. Can we not apply the Come idea to peace and get over hating? Train your girls to be speakers. The dawn of tomorrow that Susan B. Anthony saw is going to be a great light in the world. Teach your girls to know that on them depends the future of the world. We are going to have peace babies come into the world instead of warriors, and then we will have that perfect humanity God intended us to have. I am asking you to bring about peace for the conservation of life."

In thanking Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Campbell stated that the federation of women's clubs has adopted as its greatest work the furtherance of this peace movement.

K. OF P. SHOW TO BE GIVEN THURSDAY

Newton Beers to Produce Monodrama at the Castle

The members of Glendale lodge No. 331, Knights of Pythias, are very enthusiastic over the presentation of Banim's dramatic masterpiece, "Damon and Pythias," which is to be characterized in monodrama by Newton Beers, and which depicts these immortal heroes as they now live in Pythian knight-hood. The entertainment will be given Thursday night, January 25, at the K. of P. hall at Brand boulevard and Park avenue, and will be given to Pythians, their families and friends. The committee in charge of this entertainment includes George H. King, P. C. chairman; E. S. Melzer, C. C.; M. J. Edwards, V. C.; F. E. Peters, K. of R. and S. This drama has been presented by Mr. Beers under the auspices of over 5,000 lodges in the United States and Canada during the past fifteen years. He characterizes his play from memory and also possesses the talent of being able to so change his voice and action as to enable him to differentiate the personalities of each character in the story of the play as he proceeds, which makes it most interesting.

This play, the foundation of Pythianism, "Damon and Pythias," as impersonated by Newton Beers, includes the following characterization: Damon—A senator of Syracuse. Pythias—A Grecian officer. Dionysius—King and tyrant of Syracuse. Procles—Officer, and tool of Dionysius. Philistius—A senator of Syracuse. Damocles—The Pylant Willow. Lucullus—An adopted slave of Damon. Calanthe—Bethrothed of Pythias. Hermon—Faithful wife of Damon. Master Pythias—Child of Damon. Arias—Mother of Calanthe. Senators, guards, etc.

ADVERTISEMENTS

An Interesting Letter Pertaining to the Cutler Selected Directory Service, Addressed to L. G. Scovern, Glendale, Calif.

Mr. L. G. Scovern, 1000 So. Brand Blvd. Glendale, Calif.

My Dear Mr. Scovern: While I was in Glendale I called on William C. Cutler, 1327 N. Louise St., who has 162 inventions to his credit, all of more or less importance. One, however, I looked over impressed me as having the greatest possibilities of any invention I have ever investigated, and knowing your desire to make money I am going to give you some idea of the business possibilities of this invention.

It is a most unique and complete Directory and Information Device, supplying a needed want of a free Directory Service that meets unlimited requirements. The Directory is a mechanical device made in an attractive mahogany cabinet that has a projecting desk upon which is a dial. The Classifications of the names listed in the Directory are numbered and by turning the hand on the dial to the selected number that corresponds to the classification number selected and depressing the foot lever or pedal, there slides into view the information that the person seeks. The information sheet is protected by a glass, thereby saving the sheets from being handled and soiled by human contact, and in order that you may know the amount of information contained on the sheets (which are reprinted each 9 days) I will say that it takes about 4000 pounds of type for each printing. It seems to me to be as high grade a Directory Service as possible, and at this time only 8 per cent of the Business and Professional people operating in Southern California plan to be represented by the Directory Service. Furthermore, there is absolutely no money that can buy a position on this Directory if the investigation does not prove satisfactory to the company operating the business.

The device is endorsed by everyone who comes in contact with it. The locations where they are installed would not dispend with the Directory, for it is a time-saver as well as a Directory and Information assistant of authentic and up-to-the-minute information.

It is the great simplicity of the machine that makes for it "Success." I predict a great future for this dependable form of publicity. It gives a subscriber a circulation of 2,000,000 people in Southern California in a dignified and ethical manner. The growth of the use of this Service has expanded from 94 times daily to 6000 times per day and this, mind you, is from a mere handful of towns. (What a stupendous growth it is bound to have, when installed in 74 towns, in 150 locations, from Bakersfield to the Mexican line.)

As I see the proposition it is safe sure and sound and I hope the figures I am enclosing will convey to you some idea of the profit one can expect on their investment. I advise you to look into this proposition thoroughly at once and advise your friends to do the same. Very truly yours, (Signed) J. P. MORGAN.

SCHARNIKOWS ENTERTAIN GUESTS

Mrs. Maude Ellis and Miss Marie Anderson of San Diego were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Scharnikow of 318 West Harvard street for the past two weeks, returning to their home in San Diego, who moved to Glendale Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Scharnikow also entertained over the weekend Mrs. Emil Steffen of Lincoln, Neb., and Carl Olmstead of Portland.

BUSINESS WOMEN HOLD PLEASANT SOCIAL NIGHT

Members of the Business and Professional Women's Club enjoyed an exceptionally pleasant social evening at the club house on South Maryland Tuesday night, with a program of music, travel and stunts.

About forty were present and the program opened with piano numbers by Mrs. O. E. Ghrist, a newcomer in Glendale, who demonstrated that she is an artist by her interpretation of the Czerwonky "Prelude," followed with an encore number, "Romance," by Greenfelt, a celebrated Viennese composer under whom Mrs. Ghrist studied while abroad. At the close of the program she gave another charming Greenfelt number, a Viennese waltz.

Ivan Dow, accompanied upon the piano by Miss Dow, contributed two very beautiful cornet solos, "The Dream," and "The Maid of Dundee." He is a high school student but is already beginning to attract the notice of the public.

Mrs. H. R. Boyer read a charming paper about her trip abroad last summer describing the voyage going and coming, the most impressive features of the island of Madeira where the first stop was made, Algiers, Gibraltar, Monte Carlo, Genoa, Naples, Venice, Rome and finally Vienna, where her longest stay was made. Dr. Boyer might take work in the hospitals. She gave a vivid description of conditions there, the extreme poverty of the people, and the work among Austrian children carried on by the American Relief. Her audience was immensely entertained and at the close of her talk gathered to inspect some exquisite medallions of embroidery on silk, cloth inserted in hand-knitted tablespreads of gold lace made by an impoverished Viennese lady. The embroidery, she explained, was wrought with the aid of a magnifying glass.

The balance of the evening was given to stunts illustrative of the employments of those who gave them. Mrs. A. A. Barton was the first to respond with a little thrift garden allegory in which an investment in the Golden State Building and Loan Association, which she is representing, was likened to a plant which from a planting of $10, renewed monthly for 78 months, returns $1000 to the investor.

Miss Carey, who has a beauty parlor in the Monarch Building, in which she employs the Harper Methods, gave an interesting demonstration upon Mrs. Barton.

Miss Barton, who is a manicurist, and who is also a saleswoman for the stock of the National Commercial Company, gave an interesting exposition of both.

Mrs. Grace Anderson contributed a pantomime in which she measured a member and was revealed as a corset saleswoman, at once admitting that she handles the "Barclay," and then there securing an order from a member who wears them.

Mrs. Brower of Mission Valley, Montana, who was a guest, brought a word of greeting from the club women of her enterprising home town of 1000 inhabitants and told something of conditions in that valley overlooked by mountains perpetually capped with snow.

Mrs. Baxter, in the role of buyer for a dry goods establishment, had an imaginary interview with a drummer.

Dr. Hewen and Dr. Early, with the help of a long serving table, gave a demonstration of chiropractic adjustments.

Mrs. Foggie Warner talked about the intimate relations between the proprietor of a beauty parlor and her patrons and the good she can do if she will.

Mrs. Kirkman recited an original rhyme about a stationery store. Miss Fisher told about old propositions near Long Beach.

Dr. Laura Brown, president, tried to escape doing her bit but members insisted, so she examined a supposed patient by feeling her pulse and looking at her tongue.

After all these things had taken place delicious punch was served and members adjourned declaring the good time they had had.

Pacific-Southwest Review

THE WEEKLY WASHINGTON LETTER

The First National Bank of Los Angeles Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank First Securities Company

Mexico is recovering from its late banking crisis, according to a cable received from Assistant Trade Commissioner H. Bentley Mackenzie at Mexico City. Mr. Mackenzie advises the Department of Commerce as follows:

"Mexico's commercial houses have passed through the recent banking crisis without serious consequences. The present tendency is toward a cash basis, eliminating credit transactions. Exchange rates and discounts against silver are steady. General trade has not improved and holiday purchases are less than last season."

AUTO MARKET IN MEXICO

According to United States Consul Thomas D. Bowman at Mexico City, a depression is anticipated in the Mexican automotive market. Mr. Bowman cables as follows to the Department of Commerce:

"American exporters of automotive vehicles may expect a decrease in demand from the Mexican market in 1923. The general economic depression existing for the past several months has affected the market adversely, and the recent failure of several banks in Mexico City, which were financing motor vehicle sales, has precipitated an acute crisis in the trade."

The market in Mexico is found only among the wealthier class, there being no middle class such as provides the largest market in the United States. These wealthier classes are for the most part concentrated in the cities and constitute not more than 5 per cent of the total population. The lack of highways throughout the country also tends to hold motor vehicle sales within the cities. The principal market outside the cities is furnished by the petroleum and mining industries, in which the motor vehicle serves utility purposes only. The larger petroleum interests are located in the Tampico district.

PRIVATE AMERICAN SHIPPING

The competition of the Panama Canal and the protection offered by the coastwise laws of the United States are chiefly responsible for the fact that the amount of privately owned American tonnage is not much greater than the present figures, according to an analysis of the intercoastal movement just issued by the Bureau of Research of the United States Shipping Board. The Bureau estimated that the present movement is at the rate of 3,500,000 tons a year and will steadily increase.

The opening of the Panama Canal made possible a low rate of freight between the Atlantic and the Pacific coast by steamer. This business built up steadily from its inception, and the paralyzing effect of the Mexican strike accelerated the growth of the ocean traffic.

For the three months of August, September and October, 1922, there moved from the Atlantic and Gulf coasts to the Pacific coast 393,940 long tons of cargoes exclusive of oil in bulk. During the same period from the West Coast to the Gulf and Atlantic coasts 442,826 tons, exclusive of oil, were moved. This gives a total for the three months of 836,766 tons of cargo. This is at the rate of nearly 3,500,000 tons per year.

There were engaged at this period in the service in the transportation of general cargo 95 vessels aggregating over 900,000 deadweight tons.

he discovered that the emergency brake did not work.

After another mile he found himself rolling down a smooth, level road toward a bridge, and a second glance showed a six-foot gap between the bridge and the bank.

Violently he jammed on the footbrake, only to find that it would not work. Fifty yards from the bridge he stepped hard on the reverse, but the pedal was stuck and would not budge.

Turning to his companion, he remarked, cheerfully: "Well, here's hoping the gas gives out!"

An actress was brought before a magistrate for speeding, and was asked by him what she was trying to do. She confessed with a smile: "I was just trying to seriously split the air." The judicial retort was: "Well, if you split the infinitive I think it is no more than fair for you to split a hundred dollar bill and leave it with the court." The dazed actress paid her fine, but confided to her friends that she would not know what an infinitive was if one leaped into her car.

A contractor borrowed a badly worn car for an emergency trip. The owner apologized for the machine's rather bad condition. "Oh, that's all right," said the contractor. "I can drive anything that has four wheels," and calling an employee to go along, he set forth.

A little way down the road the contractor noticed the absence of a key to the ignition switch. Later

Truths in Epigram

Nothing is so firmly believed as what we least know. — Montaigne.

A man may learn from his Bible to be a more thorough gentleman than if he had been brought up in all the drawing-rooms of London. — Kingsley.

He who considers too much will perform little. — Schiller.

THE COURSE OF JUSTICE

In the courts of Los Angeles Mrs. Maybelle Roe has been found guilty of murder. It was her third trial, and the second adverse verdict. Probably the story has all been told.

No doubt prevails as to the propriety of the verdict. The defendant is an elderly woman, devoid of personal charm. She was not financially equipped so as to hire a battery of trick lawyers. No juror could have felt the impulse to wink at her. The sob sisters of the press neglected to weave pathetic and tear-dripping verbal wreaths for her benefit. Nobody kept her cell stocked with confections and flowers. Moreover, the facts in the case were against her. She had shot a man in cold blood, no extenuating circumstance being available to soften the penalty.

Recently a young and attractive woman beat the brains out of a supposed rival, a worthy and respected widow, engaged in a bank and having the full confidence of her employers. This tiger creature, who showed no quality not indicative of the nature of a wild beast, deserved to be hanged. The jury would not even convict her of the crime of which she was known to be guilty. She received an absurdly inadequate sentence, escaped from custody, is still free and likely to remain so.

The cases of the Obenchain woman and her male associate will be remembered quite clearly. The pair were accused of murder. There was a general belief that they were guilty as charged. Two trials for the woman and three for the man, came to nothing. They had to be dismissed. Now they are at liberty. Save for the requirement of an unanimous verdict, neither would have escaped penalty.

Then there must be considered the many wanton murders that never lead to so much as an arrest. And so considering, the triumph of convicting one friendless old woman does not loom very large.

FAIR TREATMENT

The battle fleet has for a long time been based on the harbor at San Pedro. The place has been found ideal for the purpose, as stated more than once by officers high in command. There, also, is a submarine base. In making these bases both tenable and desirable the port authorities have been liberal. To the latter base has been donated a large tract of valuable land. The commercial equipment at the harbor has been given up as necessity arose, to the uses of the navy.

In a recent report touching the whole subject of naval accommodations on this coast, it would appear that the advantages of San Pedro were overlooked, and the generosity of the public ignored. There was that in the report suggesting that the submarine base be moved to another port. There was nothing to indicate permanency of the battleship base. Naturally the people of this part of the state are perturbed, and they have engaged themselves in the effort to have the finding of the naval board revised. A protest from Congressman Osborne may be quoted as indicative of the general feeling. He says:

"At this late date, and after such concessions on the part of Los Angeles city, and after long occupation of a free site by the government, removal of the submarine base would almost deserve the characterization of an act of bad faith towards Los Angeles city."

All of which, possibly with elimination of the word "almost" will be generally endorsed.

FREEING THE INDIANS

It is indeed an anomalous situation that necessitates congressional action for the purpose of freeing the Indians. The Indians ought to be free. They are far more logically entitled to the rights of citizenship than many who exercise such rights. By the stupidity of the government's policy, by the dishonesty of many of the federal agents, they have been kept in a condition, not exactly of slavery, but approximating that status. The great difficulty lies in failure to recognize them as human beings. They have been treated as half-wit juveniles, and provided with faulty and unfair guardianship. The sporadic attempts to educate them have come to little, because education could do nothing for them save to make them realize more keenly the injustice that had marked their treatment from the beginning. They could be taught, but knowledge gave them no advantage; did not get them anywhere. There was no goal to arouse their ambition and quicken their manhood.

The Federation of Women's Clubs of California is represented at Washington at present by Mrs. A. H. Atwood of Riverside. She has been telling congress some valuable truths, of which every member should have been aware. When she branded the whole general policy of the Indian bureau as "inhuman, expensive to the taxpayer and fruitful of good to the Indians" she was giving the plain facts.

It is high time to cease the method of allotting tribal reservations, encouraging the Indians to improve the land, and then kicking them off as soon as the land has acquired a value that excites the covetous white. There ought to be some action that would have for the Indian all the significance that the proclamation of Emancipation held for the colored race.

THE FLIM AS AN EDUCATOR

Recently Wallace Reid, a young and much admired screen actor, was called by death. His end was tragic in that it had to be ascribed to the drug habit. This for a time had overpowered his will, but he rallied the latent forces of his better nature, and fought the evil that had enmeshed him. He was determined, he would not yield, and the struggle was too much for his weakened vitality. As the body of Reid lay in state, thousands passed by the bier. They were not there out of curiosity, but were sincere mourners. All over the land millions were conscious of a pang of sorrow at the news that the blithe and debonair actor had gone from their ken.

There is a deep significance in these circumstances. The actor who, seen on the screen, his personality otherwise unknown to most of his following, is able to win the regard and even the affection of countless throngs, becomes a powerful agency. The opportunity is his to promote happiness by portrayal of the cheerful and clean and manly; to accomplish good or evil; to start the right train of thought in the mind of the spectator, or to fill it with suggestions tending to degrade. Thus may be seen how desirable it is that pictures be cleanly, and the actors taking the several roles, above reproach. The picture is an educational power.

It is to be said for the late Wallace Reid that while some of the pictures that starred him were light and frivolous, of no intent deeper than that of winning smiles, they never were harmful, and so far as they imparted a lesson, the lesson was wholesome. That he did not win out in the heroic contest is to be deplored, for the public gave him full sympathy, and was more than ready to applaud his return to his vocation.

A motorist, said to have been intoxicated, ran his car into a crowd at San Pedro, fatally injuring one man and seriously injuring two more. This is the sort of thing that ought to be stopped and could be stopped. At this writing the reckless driver has been in jail some hours, during which period he has not driven over anybody.

PREPAREDNESS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

John Hays Hammond, Jr., inventor and engineer, warned the United States the other day against saving money on appropriations for scientific work at the expense of national safety.

He said that while no war is in sight for us for at least ten or twelve years, practical-minded men know that we must be prepared for any eventuality.

It is, therefore, his opinion that no effort should be spared in developing scientific efficiency in war so that we may be ready for the next conflict.

This is the usual argument. It sounds very convincing. Its premise may be correct, however, but its conclusion is faulty.

There is no doubt as to the truth of these premises: First, that a war may come; second, that it is the part of wisdom to be prepared for it.

The only place the logic breaks down is in the conclusion as to the method by which we should prepare for it.

It is assumed as a matter of course that the best way to make the nation safe is to develop our efficiency in destruction to such a point that we may be able to out-kill and out-destroy the enemy.

But that sort of program never did defend a nation and never will.

Nations are defended by their heads, by their brains, by their intelligence, and not by force.

If we would use our brains and common sense and devote our energies toward federating the world and devising some plan to settle disputes other than by armies, we should be taking the only possible means for the prevention of war.

This does not mean that we should not have an adequate army and navy and that we should not properly be prepared by force to resist an invasion which is made by force.

But it does mean that we should spend more money and more thought and more effort in perfecting some sort of system of international agreement than we spend in perpetuating the old system of national resistance.

We insure the peace and safety of the city not by heavily arming our citizens, but by disarming them, all except the policemen, and by strengthening the police force.

World safety can come about only in the same way that city safety comes about—by abandoning the principle of private protection and delegating force to the courts and the police.

It is just as much a crime against common sense for one nation to go about heavily armed as it is for one citizen to go about heavily armed.

"The way out of war is by intelligent co-operation among nations. There is no other way. For each nation to arm itself so heavily that no other nation or combination can conquer it is absurd upon the face of it and has never worked out in history."

THE RIGHT WORD

By W. CURTIS NICHOLSON

QUERIES

To R. R.: The word completed, as in the sentence "He was a dark complected man," is a colloquialism found in western and southern United States. I should prefer complexioned.

To Celia Jule: You ask whether anyone and any one may express different shades of meaning. All dictionaries give the proper spelling as any one, the consolidated word anyone not being recognized except as a wrong spelling of any one. However, anyone is found frequently in modern novels; as, "..." and would have laughed if anyone had told them they were Puritans." Millions Ernest Poole: "... talking to anyone in a voice that seemed to laugh." Quest, Helen R. Hull: The author of "The Right Word" has found the word anyone frequently, but believes that good usage still endorses the phrase any one, and therefore recommends any one over anyone. There is no difference in meaning. The question is whether in time anyone, as well as someone, and everyone shall be preferred from the standpoint of naturalness, convenience and conciseness.

To Miss Bette Carr: You should use the plural verb as in the following sentence, not the singular: "I hope that there are two feet of snow for Christmas." The subject two feet is plural.

L. A. Brown: "A friend who very foolishly considers me a very learned person, has asked if the spelling of the word comest has been changed by the present administration. The question was prompted by the fact that this friend of mine in reading the big W. S. sign placed in the Grand Central Terminal by the United States treasury department noticed that the word was spelt comest. I have been obliged to admit my ignorance of any such change. Knowing, however, how extremely progressive the present administration has shown itself to be, I realize that I may not be up to date. Will you kindly inform me if any such edict has gone forth?"

Answer: None that "The Right Word" has been officially notified of. In the event of a referendum on the question "The Right Word" feels sure that comest will still be retained in office. There should be no comma after person in the first sentence of your query.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

Ambition. Action.

Achievement.

There are three important A's. And as A is at the beginning of the alphabet so are these three A's at the beginning of wisdom.

Ambition goes before spirited action or final achievement. Ambition is the desire to do or to be something.

More so than the desire to have something. Because the desire to have something is more often rooted in greed than in ambition.

The desire to do or to be something may have its roots in something other than pure altruism.

It may have some roots in vanity and pride. It may have some in selfishness.

Because all human impulse is rooted in some human quality.

And pride and vanity and selfishness and greed and all those are human qualities.

Not to be denied.

But to be tempered and refined and softened.

Ambition is a longing of the spirit for the gratification of a worthy human desire.

So is it good to have ambition.

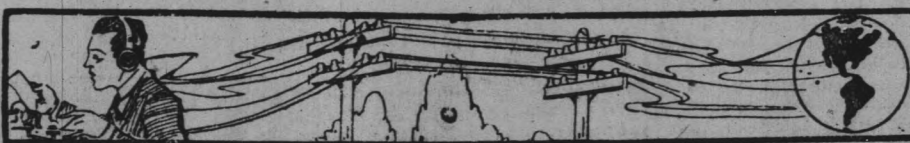

To wish to advance.

To strive to rise.

To hope for preferment.

To long for achievement.

And following ambition comes action.

Songs of the Poets

The Fisher's Widow—By Arthur Symonds (1865)

The boats go out and the boats come in

Under the wintry sky;

And the rain and the foam are white in the wind,

And the white gulls cry.

She sees the sea when the wind is wild

Swept by a windy rain;

And her heart's a-weary of sea and land

As the long days wane.

She sees the torn sails fly in the foam,

Broad on the sky-line gray;

And the boats go out and the boats come in,

But there's one away.

THE HABIT CLINIC

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Boston has a habit clinic, designed to cut at the roots of crime.

And Dr. L. Vernon Briggs, author and famous criminologist, wants such clinics established in every city in the country, the idea being, of course, to accustom the nervous system to habits that will be social rather than the contrary.

Simultaneously with this suggestion the famous Prof. Emile Coue, of "Every day in every way I am better and better" fame, has arrived in America to show us how it's done.

But the wonders reputed to be performed by Coue are as nothing to the effect that the coming of the great physician has wrought on the collective mind of the New York Academy of Medicine. This aggregation of "ethical physicians" has decided to meet the eminent French auto-suggestionist and his theories with "an open mind."

Hurray. The doctors are going to attend the good habit clinic; and it is our sincere hope that in it they will learn so thoroughly the habit of the open mind that they will go about hereafter with minds gaping like the entrance to the Mammoth Cave, minds held wide like a sack for the reception of everything new—and GOOD.

So much for that. After the physicians have established the habit of the open mind we might make up classes for the clinic from the ranks of other professions. The open mind habit would be of inestimable benefit to attorneys, judges, many of whom inhabit rather than grace the bench. When the judges have "day by day grown better in every way" and the lawyers have sprouted wings, we may be able to form a class of preachers to be followed by a clinic for politicians—provided, of course, that we are able to find a hall large enough to accommodate the assemblage.

Dr. Coue will no doubt cooperate with Dr. L. Vernon Briggs in his efforts to eradicate criminal tendencies through the reactivation of the nervous impulses, for he has expressed a desire to have his methods introduced in every penitentiary in the country.

San Quentin has already grabbed the new method and all the convicts are now busily declaring that "Every day in every way I am better and better."

What a pity Clara Phillips escaped and so missed the supernatural blessings which might have been hers had she attended a habit clinic.

All jesting aside, habit, in the last analysis, is at the root of every thing good or bad and when finally the country is adequately equipped with habit clinics it may be less plagued by habits that have taken violent hold of the yokelry without the aid of clinics.

"Rah for Coue!"

UNIFIED COMMAND

[Syracuse Post Standard]

General Tasker Bliss testifies in foreign affairs that the American army pleaded and demanded a unified command for a year before they got it, and that it was only when disaster was imminent that General Haig yielded and Foch was put in command.

Europe is in the worst condition it has been since the war ended. Poincare says that the gravest crisis since 1914 is dead ahead. The Germans say that there is no hope for them. The allies who fought together cannot come under a single command in time of peace, but they must come into agreement about the policies they will pursue, if they are not to go over the precipice.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

If the world would stop to think about it, there would be a general realization of the tragic error it was to stop a war before the war was over.

HENRY JAMES

United States disclaimed all interest and responsibility.

Some people think that the presence of French troops in Germany now means another world war. Very likely it has no such meaning. France is demanding its rights. Any other nation similarly situated would demand its rights. The tendency to carp at France grows out of a diplomacy that is, and always has been, the incarnation of greed.

The case of Henry J. Kaschub of Los Angeles is an illustration of the reason the public is prejudiced against horse racing. It is not so much that the outsider laying a wager is likely to be swindled. The public is quite accustomed to being swindled by trick and device; really seems to enjoy it.

Kaschub as a city employee having access to funds, had stolen money to bet on the races. Of course he lost, and so stole more. In the next chapter of experience he was under arrest for the theft of thousands of dollars. In the chapter following that, the judge had sent him to San Quentin.

Many of the patrons of the race track use stolen money.

Feminine hysteria leads to some freakish things. Here is a girl in an Indiana town asserting that she was called to the door by a strange man, who took a red hot iron from his pocket and branded a cross on her arm.

Nearer home a lass in her teens set out from Los Angeles towards the sad sea waves, leaving a note that implied her intention to enter the same for an indefinite trip in the direction of the setting sun. A day or two later she was picked up on a highway far inland, sore of foot, but with no sign of salt water about her.

Nothing could be imagined as more dreary than the fate of a fleet that has no home port, no land at which to touch where it would not be alien. The spectacle recalls "The Man Without a Country," with the agony of the situation magnified many fold.

Such a fleet now wanders the seas. It put in at a Chinese port, but was turned away. It had touched at other points, only to be warned off. It is now said to seek Hawaii.

This is the fleet that represents a vain resistance on the part of Russians to the soviet oligarchy that has seized and holds Russia in thrall.

Two gentlemen skilled with swords and similar toys, are said to plan the fighting of a duel, even if they have to go to Mexico to do it.

Set down as a fact that both are bluffing, and the one who talks louder is the bigger bluffer.

The proposition to erect Ruhr into a buffer state may have been made seriously, but it is not likely to eventuate. The material for neutral activity is not there.

Ruhr will be German for a generation or two yet even if held by the French through the period indicated. It might learn to heed the pricking of French bayonets, but this would not change its spirit.

That the Herrin miners were freed by the jury it was an astounding outcome of the trial, leaving only one of two conclusions possible.

Either the jury was afraid, or in Herrin the act of murder is not classed as a crime.

There are indications that the Ku Klux of Louisiana intend to die with their boots on. Also with their hoods on.

No loud protest would be evoked by such outcome.

Los Angeles has set aside $5000 to provide treatment for prisoners addicted to drugs. Coupled with drastic treatment for the creatures who supply the drugs, good results might come to this.

A Chicago judge has branded spiritualism as a fake. If Conan Doyle were to hear of this he might regard it as a summons back to this country, and bring with him his performing troupe of ghosts.

The legislature will consider a measure making the peddling of illicit drugs a felony instead of a misdemeanor as at present.

If murder deserves to rank as a felony, this dope peddling ought to be ranked right with it.

Ten members of the I. W. W. have been sent to San Quentin for from one to fourteen years. They started away signing one of the songs of the order, but not very heartily.

These are of the bolshevist type. It is too bad that there is no way of reforming them, and that to lock them up is the only method of protecting society against them.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

This morning I walked around to see Hank Devine's new store. He had sent me a personally written invitation—not a form letter—and I thought I ought to do it. But I did not expect to find myself in the midst of a sort of a reception.

"Just came around to wish Old Hank luck," every one said to every one else.

One stirred in another thought:

"He's a lucky cuss," said he.

I thought so myself at the moment, but as I mulled it over I changed my mind. Hank is not lucky. Whatever he has he has won by years of hard work and good nature and willingness to oblige and attention to business. He has none of the tricks of a good salesman. He never seems to try to sell you something—anything—on the theory that no guilty customer should escape. Hank's job seems to be to sell you the precise thing you want. If he hasn't got it in stock he will tell you who has.

Five years ago—just a measly little five years ago—Hank was a raw clerk. But he took an interest in his business and in his customers. He showed goods indefatigably. When you said good-bye without buying Hank did not send you away feeling that you had wasted the time of an important man. Sometimes he knocked his own goods.

"I wouldn't buy that if I were you," he has said to me more than once. "You will not like it. You need something quite different."

I do not suppose that Hank saved very much money, but he had a capital that can be cashed in anywhere, in the friendship and trust of his clientele. He did not do anything that any other clerk in town could not have done. There was no secret in his methods. He was good natured, obliging, courteous, and honest. He kept the friends he made.

That is why Jonas K. Hardshell, our most indurated banker, offered to back him in a little store. I tried to get a piece of the stock, but J. K. would not do it. He said that if Hank kept his health that stock would be worth 500 in five years. I told the story, and one man said that Hank is a lucky cuss.

But that isn't luck. That sort of success is won.

SIXTY MILLION SWINDLE CASE ON TRIAL

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 24.—The West's greatest land swindle case was scheduled to come to trial here today.

After more than three years of delay, W. E. Stewart and his associates were scheduled to appear to answer charges of swindling thousands of victims throughout the country of $60,000,000. This huge amount was obtained through the sale of "fruit lands" in the lower Rio Grande valley.

Irrigation promise was the big feature of the lands and indictments were returned against Stewart on the grounds that the mails were used to defraud. It is alleged the irrigation promised failed to materialize for thousands of acres of land sold.

Competing with the historic "Mississippi Bubble," which involved world powers more than two centuries ago, in actual money involved, the Stewart case is classed by postoffice inspectors as "one of the biggest cases ever prosecuted in the United States."

Stewart's clients were drawn from the fertile and profitable farms of Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Illinois and Wisconsin.

They were taken to Texas where, after seeing a few show farms along operating irrigation ditches, they invested. They paid $300 to $500 an acre for arid Texas land, which might produce if irrigated.

Hundreds of witnesses will be called by the postoffice department. A large number of them are penniless, still on their farms in Texas. The government will have to pay the transportation costs for these, estimates of the cost already having been obtained from the railroads.

The Stewart case has been a source of concern to politicians since the original investigation in 1919 by J. M. Donaldson, postoffice inspector. Prominent politicians in Missouri, Texas and Washington have been appealed to and enlisted in the fight.

The case has had the attention of Harry M. Daugherty, attorney general; Senator Watson of Indiana, Senator Reed of Missouri, R. B. Creager of Texas, a close personal friend of President Harding, and a number of other political powers.

Every step in the investigation and prosecution for the three years has drawn political fire. Inspector Donaldson was called to Washington for questioning early in his investigations, but he was allowed to proceed. Shortly after he presented the entire case to the federal courts.

WINTER INJURY TO FRUIT

"The severe cold in December damaged many of the fruit trees in the Northwest," says A. C. Hildreth, horticulture instructor at the State College of Washington.

"Reports have been received already that Winter Bananas apples have been injured. All kinds of fruit and nut trees are liable to injury from low temperatures."

Mr. Hildreth suggests that each fruit grower examine his trees for winter damage, looking for tips of branches which have been killed back, or the bark loosened and cracked from the wood.

Information as to how to repair such injuries may be secured by writing to the department of horticulture at the State College.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK—

THAT the people who are proud of their own home city are the people who believe that their city can be made a better and bigger city by the BETTER BUSINESS route.

THAT when old age comes they know their only security is what they have saved and invested wisely.

THAT their margin of safety would be reduced if their city did not develop and grow.

THAT better business and those things that tend to make better business built a city.

THAT success in business is often a matter of courtesy and the right kind of advertising.

THAT a careless, indifferent, discourteous employee often drives much business away.

THAT the merchant who is courteous enough to advertise, has courteous employees.

THAT it is best to buy advertised merchandise.

THAT you can pay more, but you can't get more when you buy the other kind.

THAT no matter what you want to buy, you can save time and money by reading the advertisements.

THAT IT IS ABOUT AS HARD TO PUT PEP INTO SOME BUSINESS MEN AS IT IS TO PUT LIFE INTO A WOODEN INDIAN.

PESTS IN THE ORCHARD

"The orchard-leaf roller is quite generally distributed throughout the United States and parts of Canada," says Anthony Spuler, author of the new bulletin on this pest just issued by the Agricultural experiment station of the State College of Washington.

"It was first known as a destructive pest in 1890 in northern Colorado, and is therefore sometimes known as the Colorado leaf-roller. Since then similar outbreaks have occurred in Oregon, California, Washington, Idaho, Montana, New Mexico, New York, Maine and the Province of Ontario.

"In the state of Washington the leaf-roller was observed in the Spokane valley as early as 1908, but was considered of minor importance previous to 1919. During that year it began to increase with alarming rapidity in the Spokane valley, and is now considered the most serious insect pest in that section."

The author's conclusion, based on present knowledge from two years' special observation, is that the best treatment for this pest is to spray with reliable miscible oil just before hatching period of the eggs. In case the infestation is severe he recommends supplementary spray with arsenical solution as soon as the eggs have hatched.

When properly emulsified miscible oil sprays are considered safe for apple trees unless the spraying should be preceded or followed by excessive cold weather.

The bulletin may be secured by writing to the director of the experiment station.

Frederick K. Rupprecht

FREDERICK K. Rupprecht, the man who has just brought about the affiliation of American Woolen and Consolidated Textile, must have read in his copy book in the Brooklyn public schools, where he got his education, that "a rolling stone gathers no moss."

"Fred Rupprecht", as he was called then and is called today, went to work for $2.00 a week as an office boy in a cotton house near Worth Street and Broadway, New York, 35 years ago, and has spent his entire business life there. He was a quiet worker as an office boy, and stuck to that policy even after he became president of Converse & Company, a concern that sells something like a million yards of cotton textiles a day on the average; and later, when he organized the Consolidated Textile Corporation. It was the same when, a few weeks ago, it was announced that Rupprecht had brought into the Consolidated four directors of the American Woolen Company, including William M. Wood as Director General. The writers who are fond of asking big men how they achieved success always get the same answer from Rupprecht; namely, "sticking to the job, making friends, and not worrying about what the other fellow is doing."

In the cotton-woolen combination, Rupprecht holds what has always been his own particular job; namely, delivering the goods. Rupprecht is still right there at Worth Street and Broadway where his first duties were to sweep out the shop and take the coverings off the machine tables. Only nowadays he directs an army of salesmen from a mahogany-lined office.

The Once Over

BY H. I. PHILLIPS

O. HOWE DUMM GIVES VIEWS OF THE RUHR CRISIS

Thinks Non-Delivery of Coal a Poor Reason for Starting a War and Thinks French Example May Lead to Mobilization. Call in United States—France Has Wood Enough If She'll Saw Up Her Leaders, He Declares.

Dear Dummer: This is to let you know that I am still busy with foreign affairs. I am now in France covering the French personally conducted war. For the last few years France's battles have been affairs that anybody could get into, but this is a strictly private fight, both England and the United States keeping out for fear they may get credited with an assist.

I have just found out that France is invading the Ruhr because Germany has failed to deliver coal as promised. This as grounds for war hands me a merry giggle. If non-delivery of coal was to be followed by war in every instance the United States would be the bloodiest battleground in the world this winter.

Coal, so far as I can find out, hasn't been delivered on time to anybody in America during the last eight months, still I am yet to hear of any general mobilization order.

Personally, I don't think it is a good thing to let the news of the French invasion reach the people of the United States. It might strike them as being a better plan for getting coal than anything the fuel commissioners have suggested. Then you'd have the spectacle of thousands of American family heads marching in full uniform to the nearest coal yard with a hand grenade in one hand and a coal hod in the other.

As I understand the situation over here, France isn't so sore over the fact that Germany isn't delivering coal as she is over the fact that the Germans ain't even offered substitutes like buckwheat, egg, nut, pea, rice, and slag. I was talking with a French colonel last night, and he says what makes France peeved is that Germany didn't even offer a bag of charcoal or some old newspapers or even a box of matches. This makes the French people hot, he says. As long as they're hot, I naturally inquire, what do they want fuel for?

The United States thinks she is doing the right thing by keeping quiet. This country now considers that diplomacy is something you do by "sitting pretty." But I tell you, my dear Dummer, President Harding is to blame for this Ruhr mess. He could have prevented the whole crisis by sending France a regiment of fuel commissioners. This would have killed two birds with one lump, as he would have been doing the United States a favor at the same time.

France also claims the Germans violated the peace treaty by not sending her wood enough from the Ruhr. France would have wood

CALIFORNIA WOOD WOULD HELP EUROPE

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—

Next to coal, what France needs and demands of Germany today is wood. Californians, because of the great timber resources of the state, cannot realize, state experts of the U. S. Forest Service, what lack of wood means. But France, about the same area as California, finds herself in dire straits for timber for reconstruction work and the up-building of her industries.

French forests have been under scientific management for centuries, and have been intensively developed so that until recent years they produced the same amount of wood each year. Then came the war and the over-cutting of the forests, followed by a depreciating exchange which prohibited imports of wood from foreign countries.

France is now suffering from floods and the erosion of valuable lands, due to the heavy cutting of protection forests on the headwaters of mountain streams. So, too, in California, the destruction of the forests through wasteful logging and fires is being felt by water users through the medium of floods and erosion from denuded areas and the lack of water during the dry summer months.

The crux of the problem both in France and California, experts say, is forest preservation. Only through adequate protection and wise use can the water and lumber supply be thus safeguarded for all time.

Unusual Evening Cape

An evening cape of sapphire blue velvet is fashionable, experts say, is forest preservation. Only through adequate protection and wise use can the water and lumber supply be thus safeguarded for all time.

enough for life if she would saw up some of the present leaders.

I can't find out just what Germany's side of the question is, but I understand that she says that if France will give her time to get on her feet she will not only send her coal and wood but steam heat. I was talking with Herr Cuno yesterday, and he said to me, "France has no need to worry about coal and wood. If she will give Germany five or ten years we will make it hot enough for her."

Well, I will write you more details as I get them. Give my regards to Warren, Dr. Sawyer, Laddie Boy, and Henry Lodge.

Your friend,
O. HOWE DUMM.

"When You Buy Advertising, You Buy Circulation"

Advertised Goods Reach You Without Lost Motion

A big part of the cost of living today may be charged to lost motion, to slow, slipshod distribution of goods, and to old-style, wasteful selling methods.

For example, every year tons of fruits and vegetables rot on the ground, because it doesn't pay to pick them. Discouraged growers plant less the next season, and the supply of food is reduced. Meanwhile, consumers in the cities near by grumble over high prices. Demand and supply are not brought together.

Contrast this with the handling of oranges. $1,000,000 a year is spent for advertising by the co-operative association of the California Fruit Growers. A large sum; yet it is only about one-fifth of a cent per dozen—one-sixtieth of a cent for each orange sold.

And this advertising has kept down the cost of oranges. To quote an official of the Exchange:

"The cost of selling oranges and lemons through the California Fruit Growers' Exchange is lower today than it was ten years ago.

"In the twelve years since the first campaign was launched the consumption of Californian oranges has doubled. The American consumer has been taught by co-operative advertising to eat nearly twice as many oranges as before.

"Had the orange industry remained on the old basis, there would have been no profit in growing oranges. New acreage would not have been planted. Old orchards would most surely have been uprooted and other crops planted."

Advertising, properly done, saves money for the consumer and makes money for the producer by driving out wasteful methods, increasing volume and cutting down the costs of selling and distribution.

BUILDING SUPPLY CO. MOVES TO NEW QUARTERS

Glendale Associated Builders' Supply Co. at 108 West Colorado

The Glendale Associated Builders' Supply company (Custer-Pesch) Roofing Contractors, formerly of 108 West Colorado street, are now comfortably located in its new building at Colorado and Verdugo, where it will be pleased to meet customers and friends. The company wishes to announce that it will carry a full line of Glidden's high class paints, wallpaper, roofing materials, wallboard, electrical fixtures and building supplies.

For sometime past Custer-Pesch roofing contractors have been operating almost exclusively in composition roofs, but demands for other building materials encouraged the company to open up a large new store in order to supply its many customers with every need in the building material line.

In connection with the Glendale Associated Builders' Supply company, Mr. J. H. Rohr, who enjoys a wide experience and knowledge of the hardwood floor business, has his office and warehouse at the same location and promises to supply high grade hardwood floors which will "lay right" and "look right." Mr. Rohr uses for his slogan "Layrite Hardwood Floors."

Although each department is separately owned and managed in this organization, the spirit of co-operation is working to assist each other department and by so doing will enable you to receive the best service at the least possible cost. The departments are as follows: Composition roofs and roofing material—Bailey H. Custer and Frank Pesch, owners.

"Layrite Hardwood Floors," J. H. Rohr, owner.
Glidden's High Grade Paints, Wall Paper and Wallboard—M. E. Ingersoll, owner.
Lighting Fixtures, Wiring, etc.—B. Stoops, manager.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

JAMES W. FOLEY

DEAR LITTLE, QUEER LITTLE MAN
Dear little, queer little man,
With his hair all a tumble of curls,
With a light in his eyes
Like the blue of the skies
When the dawn's rosy banner unfurls!
Sweet little, fleet little man,
Who fills all the house with his toys,
Whose laugh has the truth
Of the heart of his youth:
A toast to the health of our boys!

Dear little, queer little man,
With a big paper cap on his head,
And a sword at his side
As he gets up to ride
On his hobby-horse, gaudy and red!
Play, little, gay little man;
Fill all of the house with your noise,
For, oh, it were ill
If your laughter were still!
A toast to the laughter of boys!

Dear little, queer little man,
With dreams of the future to be,
When he shall grow tall
And shall care for us all,
His mother, his sister and me!
Brave little, grave little man,
With thoughts, like his youth, incomplete,
But bearing the seed
That shall blossom and lead
To manhood all gracious and sweet.

Dear little, queer little man,
Whose heart is so boyish and pure,
May the sweetness and truth
That are flowers of youth
Through all of your being endure!
Play, little, gay little man;
Fill all of the house with your noise,
For, oh, what so sweet
As the pattering feet
And the echoing laughter of boys?

Dear little, queer little man,
The light of the dawn's rosy beams
Be evermore spread
On your dear, curly head,
And truth to your innocent dreams!
Blest little, best little man,
God keep you as pure as the truth
That lingers and lies
In the light of your eyes:
Long life to the heart of your youth!
